The 2025 Award winners include:

Changemaker Award

Courtney Masterson, Native Lands Restoration Collaborative

Mark Richardson Sustainer Award

Scott Allegrucci, Jogg, Inc.

Impact Award

Kevin Good, Good Energy Solutions

Changemaker Award:

Recognition for an organization or individual whose recent (1-3 years) work has significantly advanced Kansas's climate, energy, and/or environmental issues.

Courtney Masterson, Native Lands Restoration Collaborative

Courtney is the Ecologist, Botanist and Executive Director of Native Lands Restoration Collaborative, an educational non-profit based in Lawrence, Kansas. Her work helps communities develop healthy relationships with the land through stewardship of publicly accessible native landscapes. She has been an active member of the conservation community in our region for over two decades, providing environmental education and hands-on experiences to countless students, families, interest groups, professionals and land stewards.

Mark Richardson Sustainer Award:

A volunteer-recognition award for an individual who has regularly engaged with CEP for at least five years.

Scott Allegrucci, Jogg, Inc.

Scott Allegrucci was born in El Dorado, Kansas and raised in Pittsburg, Kansas in a political and public service family.

He has been involved in leadership across the private, public, and non-profit sectors; utilizing skills developed in the entertainment industry, economic development, public policy, and government; often focused on energy, food, and the environment.

As Chief Strategic Officer for Environmental and Public Improvement at Jogg, Inc., his primary role is to optimize deployment of video tools in partnerships that seek to find, understand, and amplify the perspectives of individuals in service to the public good and critical shared challenges, especially climate change.

Scott studied biology at Pittsburg State University, graduated from The American Academy of Dramatic Arts in New York, and holds a BA in Anthropology from The Colorado College (Phi Beta Kappa, magna cum laude). He currently lives in Lawrence, Kansas with his son, Nello, and very near his partner, Amy.

Impact Award: A lifetime achievement award recognizing an individual whose work resulted in positive, long-term, broad impacts in climate, energy, and environmental issues across the state.

Kevin Good, Good Energy Solutions

Kevin Good is the Founder and President of Good Energy Solutions (GES), a solar/battery installation and electrical services firm. Kevin started GES with his wife, Shana, in 2007 and has grown it from two to 70 people and achieved countless awards. Kevin's career is a marriage of engineering, construction, and the desire to do good, honest work for customers.

The culture of the company is based on his background as a tradesman in doing carpentry for home and business owners. He has a bachelor of science degree from the University of Kansas in mechanical engineering and a diverse education and accreditation in renewable energy including the prestigious NABCEP PV Installation Professional.

Kevin is husband to Shana for 28 years and father to Satori and Salvador, and he wants to help leave them a habitable planet by installing as much clean and abundant, solar energy as possible. He loves music, sports, and traveling to beautiful places.
